der sympathy for her and I resolved to marry her, for she might have authority to direct her education and protect her from the wiles of the world and lift her from the lowly place where her lot had been cast."

Mrs. Dora, it seems, refuses to be Hitler because a certain point and is waiting for the "biggest man in the world" to seek her out so that she may do better with them on her own hook.

When a reporter called at "White hall" Gen. Clay pointed a rifle at him and said:

"Leave or I'll shoot you dead."

Five or six retainers of the general, also armed with rifles, shotguns and revolvers backed up the command. The general, through a neighbor, sent word that he loved his wife dearly, that she had cost him more than $15,000 and that his people were not fit associates for her, and that if she would come back he would agree to anything within reason.

Gen. Clay is entrenched in his home at White Hall with a arsenal and armed retainers at hand prepared to repel the invasions of inquisitive correspondents. Mrs. Cassius Marcellus Clay is in the two-room hut of her brother, who works in a saw-mill. She is gay and happy, and will chat and gossip with any male man who comes along.

"I have left him," the young wife said to day. "I may return to him, I don't know yet. He wants me to. He did not treat me right. He would not let me go to parties and would not let me visit any of my relatives. He gave me everything I wanted and sent me a lot of money twice since I left. When he came home from Cincinnati he brought me a guitar, a whole lot of candy and bananas and many nice things. But I don't love him any more. He would always let me go to visit my neighbors, but he sent a man along to see that none of his relatives tried to kill me. I got tired of being a prisoner." She don't love him any more and

The County Teachers.

The county teachers will meet at Pembroke to-morrow and the interesting program published Tuesday will be carried out. Not only teachers but others interested in school work are invited to attend.

Closed by the sheriff.

Ed Bradley's saloon at Guthrie was closed by an officer one day this week on account of debt. He had been in the business for about four years. It is probable that he will be able to arrange to open up again at an early date.

Held on a Charge of Hog Stealing.

Dick Outlaw and Meek Reeves, both colored, were tried at Lafayette Tuesday on a charge of hog stealing and led over to Circuit Court. Constable Hester brought the negroes to town and they were placed in jail.

More Disappointment for the Major.

Maj. S. R. Crumbaugh's claim for back pay due him for services in the army has been overruled by the controller of the treasury. The Major is still in Washington and has not abandoned his hope of receiving some sort of an appointment.

Dr. Wood Growing Worse.

Dr. Ben S. Wood, who was hurt by a runaway horse about two weeks ago, is growing worse and is in a very critical condition. His injuries are now causing the gravest apprehension to his friends. Several ribs were broken and the lung was lacerated and serious inflammation still prevails.

Caught Under the Vehicle.

Mrs. Clarence Harris and Miss Eunice Calhoun were out driving Tuesday and in turning a corner on High street the buggy struck a post and was overturned. Miss Calhoun was caught under the vehicle and her face and head were very badly bruised. Mrs. Harris escaped with a few scratches.

Filmed Him with Shot.

Messrs. J. M. Abshire and Frank Simons, of Guthrie, were out bird hunting Tuesday. Simons walked behind a clump of bushes just as a cover was laid and when Abshire fired nearly in the hip and side, striking him from head to foot. He was knocked down and remained unconscious for several minutes. The young man was taken back to his home and nearly all the shot were picked out. He is not seriously wounded and will be up in a few days. The affair was purely accidental.

Barney P'Pool Dead.

Mr. Barney A. P'Pool died at Phoenix, Arizona, Tuesday, in the 33rd year of his age. He was a victim of consumption and went west in search of relief. Mr. P'Pool was a native of the Bainbridge neighborhood but for the past ten years had resided at Washington. He was a bright and promising young man and had several times been promoted when his health failed.

His brother, Oscar P'Pool, and his mother, Mrs. P'Pool, were here at the time of his death. They are coming east with the remains and the interment is expected to take place at Bell's Chapel, near Trenton, next Monday or Tuesday.

Mr. P'Pool was unmarried. He leaves a large number of relatives in Christian, Trigg and Todd counties.

The Universalist church of this city has engaged as their pastor, Rev. Arthur Roberts, of Michigan. He will enter upon his duties next Sunday, preceding the annual meeting. The congregation is cordially invited. Mr. Roberts is a graduate from Canton Theological school, and is a young minister who comes well recommended.

has tired of the expensive toys this old man has bought for her because they keep her constantly in mind of him and she is not a ward and not a wife in reality.

And then, too, as she has grown to womanhood, she was only 14 three years ago when she married, she has learned to take a delight in the attention of the young men who flock about her. Her father, a poor old man, about 60, left her to his mother, who has been telling her how much better he is in the light of late developments a sadly pathetic one. He does not tell her now because he will talk to no one in his fit of seethe anger, but he has told her off. In fact, he has told her so many times before I could get my child wife to comprehend that she was mistress of my big house and of the landscape about her, and she had a little girl of her own, the highest idea of domain she could grasp. She was a tall, slender, dark-haired girl, and I have faithfully endeavored to make a model woman of her, and believe I shall elevate her thoughts and aspirations.

"I changed her name to Dora, which is Spanish for 'gilded hair.' Her surname was Richardson. Her mother, who was dead, was killed by a mule run on the high bank of the Kentucky river, on the Queen & Crescent Railroad. Dora was with her mother at the time, a mere child, and saved her own life by clinging to the bridge timbers. Dora was the first person to come down the cliff to reach her dead mother. This made her a heroine in my eyes, and when she came to my neighbor's house my heart was touched with tenat White Hall. Gen. Clay suspecting that he had designs on Dora, chased her off the place, threatening her with his rifle. Dora was not a wife in reality.

Her pastor, Rev. W. G. Young, who says General Clay wants him to prevent Dora from returning, has not been at Clay's house. Young says he does not know how many preachers come to see her, she will not go back until she finishes her visit.

The Mystic Midgets Are Coming.

One of the most novel and charming entertainments ever given in this city by home talent may be seen at Holland's Opera, Dec. 17 and 18, under the auspices of the Public School Library.

The Mystic Midgets' Littlest Carnival of Nations, and the German Gnomes are very well known to most of us already and now to see our own young people impersonate these different characters in real life and blood with the many schemes and adventures of these young impish portrayals is worthy of the hearty laugh by all who see them.

The Canasta is designed for the old as well as the young. All those who do not see the Midgets on their flying trip will have much to regret after they take their departure.

Rev. Dexter G. Whitinghill, of New Orleans (formerly of Madisonville), has the yellow fever. A telegram was received by the family to that effect a few days ago. His physician said that the sick man was doing very well and that there was no very great danger of a fatal termination of the disease.

Some thief stole Judge Petree's Thanksgiving turkey from a coop on Tuesday night. Several other parties suffered similar misfortunes.

A FAVORITE SUBJECT.

There Are Many Curious Superstitions
About Bread.

It would be surprising, indeed, if there were not many superstitions about bread. The one indispensable article of food is naturally in every nation a favorite subject of folk-lore. No French peasant begins a new loaf without crossing it with the knife. The English superstition that bread cracked in the baking portends misfortune in the family has taken root in America. In Germany, too, the housewife still believes that cracks on top of the loaf of bread indicate the death of some one in the household, or, perhaps, misfortune to a dear friend, while cracks on the lower side of the bread are taken to indicate a birth.

As many of us know, our bakers mark the sign of a cross upon the dough before placing it in the oven. The reason for making this sign becomes plain when we know the origin of the custom. Almost all our superstitions about bread date back to old pagan days, though they have been greatly modified so as to conform to Christian beliefs.

The old domestic practice was modified when Christianity became triumphant, and, in place of a pagan symbol, the early Christian housewife no longer used to make the sign of the cross when she began to knead the dough, but she marked that sign upon her loaf before placing it in the oven. Why? Simply because the sign of the cross is the recognized Christian protective mark against the attacks of evil spirits, witches and the like. Hence, bread marked with the cross is supposed to be witchproof, will bake all right, not crack across the top, etc.

Just as the Jews have Passover cakes, and other peoples have had specially prepared food for their religious festivals, so Christians have cakes for certain seasons. Our hot cross-buns on Good Friday are simply modern representatives of the cakes used at some old pagan festival. In days gone by, the cakes and buns baked at Easter were supposed to possess great virtue. Thus, it is an old belief that the observance of eating cross-buns on Good Friday insures, so to speak, the house from fire for the coming year. We still eat a certain kind of pancake on Shrove Tuesday. The practice is referred to in "All's Well that Ends Well," where the clown speaks of a "pancake for Shrove Tuesday." In "Pericles" they are called "flapjacks." In a town still used in country districts.

In truth, to study the superstitions about bread is to take a wide lesson in folk-lore. These superstitions relate to the kneading through the oven, bakers and bread. For instance, in many parts of France the "arcles," or kneading trough, is more than a rude kitchen utensil; it is often a pretty bit of furniture. Mr. Sabotot, who has collected many of the superstitions of the French folk relative to bread, quotes the story of a thief who entered the window of a house with intent to commit burglary, but refused to step on the trough still containing the dough, believing that to do so would be an impiety. This is similar to the American story of two hungry burglars who refused to satisfy their hunger with the meat which they found in a well-stocked larder because it was Friday.

A writer in one of our magazines says that in Gottland the cross is still signed before the oven is lighted or the dough kneaded. The practice is very common in the country districts all over Europe. In Brittany the housewife makes the sign of the cross with the right hand while she places the dough in the oven. After the dough is kneaded, the lid of the trough is shut, and so is the door; for if a cat should enter the room the bread would not rise. Certain charms or invocations are used to cause the bread to multiply itself. Thus, the peasant housewife adjures the dough to imitate the leaven, the wheat, the miller, and to rise. She would be very angry if any one should sing or whistle in the room while she is making the loaf.

The loaf of bread itself is connected with a large number of superstitions. According to an old English superstition, if a loaf accidentally parts in the hand while an unmarried lady is cutting it, this may be taken to indicate either that she will not be married during the next 12 months, or, what is worse, that there will be dissensions of some kind in the family. So the folks have a fear of cutting a loaf accidentally after cutting it. Of course, it is common to regard as bad luck for a piece of bread to fall on the buttered side. Finally, we may note the custom of carrying a crust of bread in the pocket "just for luck"—a practice which has not gone out of fashion at the present day, and is alluded to by our poet Herrick:

"If ye fear to be affrighted,
By chance or by a true,
Carry nothing but bread.
For that holy piece of bread
Chars the danger and the dread."

ROUMANIA'S GRAIN CROPS.

Smaller Than New York State, Its Products Are Important Abroad.

It is a large country. Its entire population is materially less than that of the state of New York, and its area is 46,000 square miles, a thousand less than this state. Yet it has become one of the principal grain-exporting countries of Europe.

Since the country was turned into one of peasant proprietors by the division of the crown estates, the cultivation of cereals, and especially of wheat, has increased largely, and with it the exports. Last year Roumania shipped from Danubian ports 23 per cent. more grain for export than it did in 1890, and of this total wheat was the chief item. Last year's wheat crop in Roumania was 70,000,000 bushels, which, in view of the size of the country, is enormous. Nor is wheat the only product of the Danubian kingdom, for corn or maize, as it is called there, is raised to the value of $80,000,000 a year, and the product of barley is 250,000 tons a year, and of rye 100,000. The importance of these figures will be seen when it is stated that there is 50 per cent. more rye raised in Roumania than in the entire United Kingdom, and that the corn or maize crop in Roumania is larger than in any European country with the exception of Austria and Italy. The total grain crop of Roumania amounts in a year to more than 200,000,000 bushels, and the average yield to the acre of cultivated land is 25 bushels, whereas it is only 20 bushels in France and Germany, and only ten in Italy and Russia. A table appeared some time ago in one of the European scientific journals showing the average yield in bushels of grain to the inhabitant in various countries. In the United States the average was 40, Denmark 30, and in the United Kingdom 16, and in the United Kingdom eight. The lowest of European countries was Switzerland.

The shortage of grain crop in many European countries has led to an unusually high demand, of which the United States, as the chief grain-producing country of the world, is getting the largest benefit, but other countries which have surplus for export are gaining some advantages, too, and Roumania is one of the countries so favored. Unlike the other Danubian political divisions, it has a railroad system of 1,800 miles, and it has better roads than most of its neighbors. —N. Y. Sun.

From the grave he passed to the the ludicrous; he took off the mannerisms of a native clerk on the railway works, of an impudent bimbo carrying on a conversation through the telephone with an indistinct but imperturbable Egyptian at the other end of the wire.

Next, with a most ghastly realism, he gave us a representation of a hanging man.

It was true to life and to death, for Somid must have witnessed many an execution by hanging in the Dervish camp.

Then he became Wad el Bishara

again at the battle of Hafir, encouraging his men and laughing scornfully at the shells which burst around him, the sound of which Somid faithfully reproduced.

A variety of other tricks were performed by this versatile black. Late in the day he led across him again, at work on the railway. He had just laid down a rail, and, seeing us, proceeded to imitate

the action of one sketching a portrait.

In a moment we recognized every turn of his head and hand, the pose, even the expression of face of one of the war artists with us; it was a wonderful piece of pantomime and mimicry. —Wad el Hafra Correspondence

A TRANSFORMED EMPIRE.

Austria of the Present and Its Emperor

Francis Joseph.

Nothing is more wonderful than the difference between the Austrian empire that was and the Austrian empire that is. I knew it above 40 years ago, says a correspondent of London

Truth. Then it was one of the cheapest countries in Europe, now there is no country dearer. In this it has kept pace with Germany. Bohemia is probably the wealthiest state of the Austrian empire. The people there have always been comfortably off, and now they are well off. I never came across a village where the houses are not far better built than the English farmhouses and cottages. If there is no great luxury, there seems to be no luxury. But agriculture is the sole industry. Factories are springing up everywhere. In all parts one sees chimneys. They are not picturesque, but they mean energy and the creation of wealth. The emperor is really a remarkable man. Practically not only the foreign affairs of his empire are in his hands, but so thorough is the belief in his honesty and good sense that he may be said to keep the empire together. He is no longer a young man, and whether the empire will fall to pieces after him is a possible contingency. The heir is a young man, whose health is so bad that he is not likely to live to inherit the crown. His brother has only one specialty. He is, by the way, one of the best horsemen in the empire, but this is hardly a gift calculated to keep the various component and antag-nistic parts of it in harmony.

Senator Park C. Smith, of Henry county, the only gold Democrat in the upper branch of the conning session of the Legislature, has announced his purpose to go into the Democratic caucus, and be bound by all its actions and support its nominees. This gives the Democrats 27 members, with only 20 necessary to pass a bill over the Governor's veto.

It is announced from Frankfort that State Inspector Lester will complete his report on the penitentiary investigation next week and will then make another investigation at Eddyville and later come to this city. The next real investigation into State institution will be made by the State Senate and will be conducted without the usual barrel of white-wash.

The old capitol building, a Frankfort, is gradually falling into decay and some day will tumble down upon the heads of the general assembly, unless the old rattle-trap is replaced by a state house that will not be a disgrace to the State. A part of the ceiling fell in Wednesday, but no body was under it at the time.

A man named Amos F. Eno, who failed in 1861, is creating a profound sensation in New York by hunting up his old creditors and paying them or their successors dollar for dollar with 4 per cent. interest for 36 years. The discovery of one so really honest man has astounded the whole city. Mr. Eno mailed the checks with an injunction of secrecy, but some of the creditors couldn't keep from talking about it.

FRANKS MAKES CHANGES.

Corrected Legislative Returns.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 24.—Though corrected returns make two changes in the personnel of the House of Representatives, the Democratic majority remains the same—102 to 36.

In the only doubtful senatorial district the Rev. A. D. Roberts, Democrat, was elected, as indicated by the earlier returns. His is the Thirtieth-fourth district, composed of Magoffin, Breathitt, Wayne, Morgan and Owsley.

In the legislative district composed of the counties of Breathitt, Lee and Magoffin, the earlier returns indicated the election of Dr. T. S. Pryse, Republican, of Beattyville, but Mr. Miles Spalding, Democrat, called Breathitt, contested the election, so the offset Dr. Pryse's majority in Lee and Magoffin, according to a later report.

This is the district which was represented during the last session by J. G. Bailey, who was the Republican nominee for Appellate Clerk.

On the other hand, Mr. John Collier, Republican, instead of Mr. W. A. Gearhart, Democrat, was elected in the district composed of the counties of Floyd, Knott and Letcher.

Collins carried Letcher county by 753, and Gearhart carried Knott by 91 and Floyd by 214. Collins' majority was 448.

The Senate stands twenty-seven Democrats and eleven Republicans, while the House is composed of seventy-five Democrats and twenty-five Republicans. As far as the general sense of the members are Populists, but they will probably caucus with the Democrats.

LOWER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Rio Coffee. Green and Roasted, Almost at Rock Bottom.

New York, Nov. 23.—The prices of green and roasted coffee are now lower than ever before. Rio, No. 7, on the spot, is quoted at 6½ a pound.

The market for futures has also broken from previous owing to the increase in the coffee supply in the United States, which is the largest in the history of the trade, being more than one million bags.

The price of green coffee a year ago was 10c, and that of roasted, 15c.

The margin between the two varieties has, therefore, been reduced from 5½ to 5c; in other words, cut in half.

The price of roasted coffee in packages, as sold by the Arbuckles and the Woolson Spice Company, has fallen to 9c a pound. A representative of the Arbuckles quoted as saying that this price is the cost, and a representative of the Hausey's, who control the Woolson Spice Company, says, there is a profit in 9 cent coffee.

Several Horses Missing.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 23.—Marshal Collins is in pursuit of a gang of horse thieves who have been operating in Western Kentucky during the past few days. Bob Thompson, a postman and boy, was stolen at the Newton church last night and the same thieves g t a horse from Henry Smith, near the city, early this morning. On Monday night, it is believed, the same gang stole a horse from G. F. Hoskins, of Clinton.

Gigantic Tobacco Deal.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 18.—A tobacco deal of gigantic proportions has just been closed here between E. C. Morris & Bro., of this city, and Joseph F. Perkins, of New York, representing the Italian Government, by which Morris is to furnish over 10,000 hogsheads of dark tobacco for that Government during the next year. The Italian Regie contract was to be closed next June, so it was thought that the tobacco companies concluded not to advertise for bids, thus cutting Contractors' expenses, Toel, and Abechene, of New York, out of competing, as they held this contract prior to last year.

Morrow has already bought 11,000,000 pounds and will probably buy 10,000,000 more in this section.

The tobacco is to be consigned to Henry Perkins & Co., of New York, and paid for through Joseph Ferigo.

This contract probably ends one of the biggest fights between Regie contractors and the representatives of the other Regie contracting firms have bought about 8,000,000 pounds of tobacco in the dark growing sections and planters have reaped a rich harvest in exceedingly high prices, the result of the sharp competition.

UNION SERVICES HELD.

Everybody Gave Thanks at the Tabernacle Yesterday.

As has long been the custom in this city, Union Thanksgiving services were held at the Tabernacle yesterday morning.

A large audience assembled and there was some fine singing by the union choir.

Rev. W. J. King, of the Cumberland church, preached the sermon of the day.

The parts assigned the various ministers were as follows.

Rev. S. N. Vail, Presbyterian, invocation.

Rev. H. D. Smith, Christian, scripture lesson.

Rev. W. K. Piner, Methodist, prayer.

Rev. W. J. Kug, Cumberland, sermon.

Dr. W. L. Nourse, Presbyterian, collection.

Dr. Chas. H. Nash, Baptist, benediction.

Songs were interspersed with various exercises.

The public schools adjourned Wednesday afternoon for two school days. Friday will be made up on Washington's birthday. By putting the two holidays into one, the pupils get a half week and only one week's school work is interfered with.

All of the banks, the post office and other public offices were closed on account of the holiday.

The Commissioners and other officials were all invited out to the assembly hall for Thanksgiving dinner with Dr. Gardner and all who could accept the invitation.

The landlords of Hotel Latham and the Phoenix Hotel both made extra spread for their guests, including a number of invited friends.

Nearly everybody had turkey for dinner yesterday. The produce dealers had to hump themselves to supply the demands, and the number of dressed turkeys sold went up into the hundreds.

Special Thanksgiving services were held at Grace Episcopal church yesterday. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion.

DEATHS.

Mr. Thos. Tigbwm Willis died in Clarksville Tuesday of heart trouble and dropsy combined. He was a native of Virginia and was born in Marion county, but moved from Orange county to Southern Kentucky in 1842. After four years he moved to Clarksville, where he resided up to the time of his death.

CLARKE.—Mrs. Sarah Clark died in Lexington yesterday morning aged 76 years. She leaves four sons, Mr. W. W. Morris, of Louisville, late deputy revenue collector; Dr. Frank H. Clarke, ex superintendent of the Lexington asylum; Henry Clarke and Pat Clarke. One daughter, Miss Kate, also survives her and another, Miss Mary, died some months ago. The funeral arrangements had not been announced yesterday, but the interment will probably take place in Lexington to-day.

BACERS.—Jimmie, the 14 month old son of Dr. J. J. Bachers, of Gracey, died Wednesday night, after an illness of several months. The interment took place at the Blakely burying ground yesterday afternoon.

KING.—A little girl of Esq. M. B. King, about six months old, died yesterday morning. The funeral services will be held at the Tabernacle at 9:30 and the interment will take place at 11 o'clock to day, at Hopewell Cemetery.

Another Prodigal Returns.

LaSalle, Mich., Nov. 23.—The longing Journeymen to-night landed in the port of Demarest, a camp after having been for more than year—recently denounced free silver as its advocates. It has been by far the most uncom- promising gold Democratic paper in the West. The reason given for the change of policy is that the "second coming" of the "Second Coming" is approaching.

It is the cohorts of Dingell Bay, the Republicans on the other, are in quite as desperate a situation as was that famous scout of Daniel Boone, who, looked ahead of him saw only "Injuns on the upper road, and death up ahead." It is the "Second Coming" that the shameful excesses of Republicanism as evidenced by eight months of the McKinley administration were worse than any threatened evils of Populism. It promises henceforth to support the national organization and its leaders.

FASCINATING CALVE.

The Greatest Singer of the Day Admits Her Indebtedness to Paine's Celery Compound.

Emma Calve has attained a success unprecedented in the annals of lyric art.

To repeat the story of her triumph is needless. Her supernal voice, her fascinating half-oriental dances, her caressing gestures, her black eyes, irresistible mirth—these, and the added charm of her frank, frank, open, dazzling personality by which the artist has made her name famous in every part of the world.

Her marvelous artist temperament has made her a great actress, but this brings its own pride, and as great hearts know great grief; great temperaments must know great nervous strain; consequently, there are periods of nervous prostration and unfertilized engorgement when the artist is compelled to forget these extenuating circumstances.

Calve's absolute reliance on Paine's celery compound at all such times of low nervous energy appears in the following letter:

Foston, Mass., March, 1917.

I am greatest need that Paine's celery compound can be obtained. I can vouch for its wonderful health-giving power.

Every great change for the worse in health is in most cases at once betrayed by a loss of weight and a pinched thinning of the face. On the other hand a gain in weight, up to a certain point, goes hand in hand with an improvement in the color and amount of the blood.

One of the newest tests of the health-making capabilities of Paine's celery compound is the rapid increase in weight and the increased roundness of the body that invariably follows its use. The body that makes its rounds, purifying functions, performed by the bowels, kidneys and the skin, regular and thorough.

The improvement in looks from taking this great restorative is not a mere matter of idle vanity, but the signs of healthiness possess all over the body. Many a parent, wife and husband have watched with absorbing surprise and joy as the effects of Paine's celery compound gain, under the help of Paine's vegetable compound, flesh, color and wholesomeness of mind and body.

Now comes the secret of Paine's celery compound, but such disorders as sick headaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease and nervous instability invariably yield to the vigorous treatment of Paine's celery compound.

Increased appetite, ready capacity to digest food and the final cure of stomach disorders, bowel difficulties and nervous disengagement are the signs of the great health of the system. As a prominent man inures his house against the fury of fire, however remote, so persons feeling "run down" and tired, get a certain benefit from Paine's celery compound.

Garrett, town marshal of Covington, Tenn., after hearing this lecture and laughing him sore, said to the lecturer: "Well sir, there is no doubt about it: you were there!"

For some scenes from real life, for生动的插图 of the life of the war times, for picturesque glimpses of life in the old South, for noble and inspiring eloquence, this lecture is a masterpiece, and there is nothing like it in the American platform. Each scene illustrates some particular character, some feature, as it were, which could be given to our young people.

The price of admission will be only 25 cents.

Dr. Steel's Lecture.

Rev. S. A. Steel, D. D., will lecture at the Methodist church Tuesday night Nov. 30, on "Home Life in Dixie During the War."

This lecture is a unique and thrilling story, told by one who saw and heard and felt what he relates. It is a series of vivid pictures of the side of our great civil conflict which is not given in books, and abounds in ludicrous and serious incidents of the war.

Old men, from the G. A. R. after hearing this lecture and laughing him sore, said to the lecturer: "Well sir, there is no doubt about it: you were there!"
